ROCKS NEWS

Mr. Vester Garrett of Lynchburg, visited his uncle, J. A. Garrett, last week. Miss Annie Ranson is sick. Mr. W. J. Almond and son, Lacy, was in Lynchburg a part of last week. We are sorry that Robert Almond's health does not improve.

Our school truck driver, Harry Ranson, is sick in bed. His brother, Jim, is filling his place. Mr. Joe Hamilton left from some steps and hurt himself a few days ago, he is improving now. Mrs. O. C. Paulett visited her people in Lynchburg last week. Mrs. D. W. Dinkins and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Ranson. Mr. Lacy Martin let a kitchen cabinet fall on his foot and broke several bones. Mrs. Hulbert Martin spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ranson. You are cordially invited to attend the services at Rocks church Sunday a. m.: Sunday School at 10 a. m. and preaching at 11 a. m.

EVERGREEN

Mrs. J. J. Farrar has been on the sick list lately. Mrs. Joe Ingram remains very ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Young. We are glad to see Mrs. J. R. Connor out again after having measles. Mrs. D. T. LeFev is visiting Mrs. J. R. Connor. Mrs. J. W. Sinclair, of Roanoke, was a visitor at the home of J. R. Lee and Mrs. J. J. Farrar last week-end. Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Inge, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Hamilton, of Roanoke, and Mrs. M. Man- lates, of Lynchburg, were week-end guests of Mrs. H. W. Glenn.

Miss Ursula Woolridge has returned to her school, after having measles. Miss Bettie Morris, who has been teaching school here during Miss Woolridge's illness has returned to her home. Mrs. J. R. Lee, who has been ill for some time, is no better at this writing.

Z. V. Harvey has returned to his work in Lynchburg. The children of Rev. T. E. Goad, Geoffrey Austin and Jack Baker are out again after having measles. Very few families in the community escaped the epidemic.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. LeGrand were visitors in Lynchburg Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Staples, of Farmville, visited their home people last week. We are very glad to welcome Mr. Frank Catworth's family to our village. They are living over Mr. J. H. Inge's store.

We are wondering if wedding bells will be ringing around here soon. Mr. Calvin Gentry is a frequent visitor in Lynchburg of late.

Mr. D. T. LeFev, of Colony, was a visitor at the home of J. R. Connor last week. Miss Madian Lee and Mrs. J. M. Rosser, of Appomattox, spent Tuesday in Phenix. Mrs. Annie Lee, of Appomattox, spent last Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. J. R. Lee here.

There is quite a lot of sickness in this community. M. W. Hunter died at his home on February 2nd at 7:30 p. m. He leaves a wife and several children to mourn their loss. His remains were taken to Reedy Springs Church for interment. Rev. Gray L. Ligon conducting the burial services. Mr. Hunter was a man who had many friends and was noted for his hospitality in his home. He united with Maple Grove Church several years ago and was a member of that church when called to his reward. His disease was cancer of the stomach. He had the very best of medical aid and loving friends and while he could have been ready to do all that could be done for him, he was not able to answer when the summons came. The family has the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

The death angel also visited the home of John Thomas McCormick on February 2nd at 4 p. m., and took from that home the beloved wife and mother. She had been in bad health for many months with bright disease and heart trouble, yet her death was a shock to those around her. She leaves a husband and six children to mourn their loss. She had been married twice; there were two children by the first marriage—Mrs. C. D. McCormick and Harry Ledbetter and by the second marriage—Mrs. Edith, Catherine and William, all of Bent Creek. Burial took place Wednesday, Rev. Gray L. Ligon conducting the services. The pallbearers were—Leonard, Ted and Clyde McCormick, Raymond and Melvin Jamerson and John Childress. The floral designs were beautiful and carried by six ladies, all friends of the family. The service was very impressive and will long be remembered by those present. The heart of the writer goes out to her children in this sad hour, may they be her eternal gain and may it be a link to bind them to Heaven.

Mrs. T. P. Childers continues quite ill. Measles is raging around here. Miss Nell Davis who teaches near the Appomattox line has closed her school on this account. It is surprising how many there are always to have these contagious diseases and they are around so often too. Donavan Perdue was the first to take it here; he is said to be improving. Cleveland Burks is quite sick here.

J. W. Dixon who has been sick since last August is no better; he will undergo an operation at the Baptist Hospital this week. His friends are anxious about him. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thord, all have a very sick child at this writing. Success to your paper.

We are very glad to welcome Mr. Frank Catworth's family to our village. They are living over Mr. J. H. Inge's store. We are wondering if wedding bells will be ringing around here soon. Mr. Calvin Gentry is a frequent visitor in Lynchburg of late.

Mr. D. T. LeFev, of Colony, was a visitor at the home of J. R. Connor last week. Miss Madian Lee and Mrs. J. M. Rosser, of Appomattox, spent Tuesday in Phenix. Mrs. Annie Lee, of Appomattox, spent last Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. J. R. Lee here.

HEIR OF NAPOLEON DISCOVERED IN PARIS

Teacher Is Daughter of Emperor's Son.

Paris.—The granddaughter of Napoleon Bonaparte, first emperor of France, has been discovered living in a tiny cottage, squeezed in among the towers and truck gardens, in a suburb of Paris. She is Madame Leonard, a retired school teacher, credited with being the only direct living descendant of the famous Corsican. All Bonaparte princes alive today are descendants of Napoleon's brothers. Madame Leonard is the daughter of the celebrated Count Leon, who was born of the Emperor Napoleon and Eleonore de la Plaigne.

The news of her father's birth was received by Napoleon at Pultusk, Poland, when he was preparing the campaign that culminated in the victory of Friedland. "Napoleon was almost thinking of divorcing the childless Empress Josephine, so you can imagine what consequences it would have had on the emperor's family to find out that his wife was pregnant with his son."

She then related that Napoleon believed the latter half of his name on the day he was born. The child grew up to play a colorful role in the social world of that time and gained a reputation as one of the foremost beauties of France.

Madame Leonard explained that her only son was killed in the World War at Athens in 1917 at the age of twenty. This was the first indication that a direct descendant of Napoleon took part in the World War.

Madame Leonard had led a quiet but comfortable life. Since 1923 she has lived at St. Louis, a suburb of Paris, with her daughter, now grown into womanhood.

Sculptor Asks Burial at Mill Montparnasse. Paris.—An old windmill of Montparnasse may become the final resting place of a famous French sculptor, who died some months ago.

A few of his pictures have been sold, and these have been a genuine success for him so long.

Museum officials are making an effort to have sculptor's work in recognition for this latest picture, "Viewing the Oaks."

Old Sioux Chief Tells Story of Custer Fight. Washington.—An aged Sioux warrior, survivor of Custer's stand, has given a new version of that famous battle between the white man and the red.

From White Man, seventy-one, head of his body, turned back to his own to tell of the "massacre." He was seventeen then.

The old warrior came here in the cause of the Sioux who have used the government's money to buy land for their Indian lands taken over for white settlement.

He told his story of the fight: "One day an old man and a boy, they were Indians, were chased and the boy was killed by Custer's soldiers."

The soldiers began to shoot on the camp's women and children who were swimming in the creek. Immediately after this the women got their ponies, mounted and they went against the soldiers and the end was that all the soldiers were killed."

Under Vaccine Cuts Infant Mortality in Two. Paris.—A special vaccine, reducing the mortality among newly born infants, has been used in 20,000 experimental cases since 1924. Dr. Albert Calmette told the Academy of Science.

So successful have these trials been that Pasteur Institute, of which Doctor Calmette is administrator, has created a special laboratory for its preparation. It will be distributed free to physicians and midwives.

Eight Mines Are Found With Home in Radio Set. Raleigh, N. C.—Many things have come out of radio sets, but Albert G. Avery got a mother mouse and a litter of seven young mice out of his. Avery started to investigate a short circuit in his set and found that a dead mouse which had been electrocuted by the bare wires. The mother and remaining five were comfortably settled in a nest which she had made in the hull's speaker.

Soviet Miners Burn 4,000 Icons at Meet. Moscow.—A demonstration of 15,000 icon burners in the district of Orel, Russia, has been reported. The icons were burned in a huge bonfire. The icons were taken from the numerous churches in the district, all of which were ordered to be closed for worship and will be turned into dust.

The miners promptly sent a telegram to Mr. Boris Hasegawa, who reported a burglar peering into his window. "The burglar" proved to be a reflection of a picture hung the night before by the doctor's wife.

Photo Causes Scare. Tokyo.—Police dashed through a cold drizzle at 4 a. m. to the home of Mr. Hasegawa, who reported a burglar peering into his window. "The burglar" proved to be a reflection of a picture hung the night before by the doctor's wife.

HOD CARRIER WINS SUCCESS AS ARTIST

Denver Man Drew His First Sketch on Bar.

Denver, Colo.—Twenty years ago a bearded and rugged Westerner took a stub pencil from his pocket, leaned over the counter of a frontier saloon and reproduced from memory a scene he had witnessed years before in a theater in Cincinnati.

It was Michael Edward O'Brien, standing alone inspired by his first creative mood, while laughter and the fumes of whiskey filled the room.

In a little while the sketch was finished—even to the bridge across the Thames. His comrades crowded around, praising his work, though they did not understand.

Encouraged by O'Brien, the painter of O'Brien, began to paint the scene among an exhibit of the work of native Colorado artists at the Denver art museum. The exhibit to be sold.

Behind that picture lies the story of an artist who has made a fortune in support, who never shirked his responsibility and never became dissatisfied.

Those few words of appreciation which his comrades had given to his work, his wife encouraged him, although she was busy with the home.

At night the carrier, noted for his strength when he was a young man, would go to his home in Denver's most famous district and for hours then he would paint the picture of the bridge across the Thames.

Paints From Memory. Because he was forced to work at night, he had to paint from memory, which fact, it is said, is responsible for the beauty of his work. His sketches were found in his pockets. Occasionally, his wife says, he goes off to the mountains, but always returns with sketches when he comes back and sketches his scenes from memory.

A few of his pictures have been sold, and these have been a genuine success for him so long.

Museum officials are making an effort to have sculptor's work in recognition for this latest picture, "Viewing the Oaks."

Prof. Crawley is having many absences on account of measles. Mr. John Martin is sick at his home near Mt. Comfort, Church.

Miss Virginia Reynolds, of Amherst, was home last week-end. Mrs. Lloyd Cates has returned to her home in N. C., after a visit to parents here.

Edward O'Brien is at Johns Hopkins Hospital for treatment. Spot Cheatham, one of the oldest colored citizens, died last week.

Samuel M. Morgan lost his two-year-old girl last Thursday of diabetes. Misses Frankie McKinney and Earle Patterson spent Saturday in Lynchburg.

Misses Hazel and Virginia Reynolds and Phoebe O'Brien visited in Lynchburg Sunday. Mrs. J. O. Gordon was summoned to Urbana, Ill., Sunday to attend an ill sister.

Mrs. T. H. Hancock has returned to Lynchburg, after spending several days with relatives here. Robert Gills had a fall on the ice Thursday and broke his shoulder. His mother, who was on a visit in Richmond, returned hurriedly to his bedside.

Miss Lucy Evans, of Charlottesville, and Gailie Smith and Thelbert Trent, of North Garden, spent Sunday at the home of C. W. Smith.

Messadams A. R. Harwood and J. E. Dinwiddie will be joint hostesses at the Harwood home, of W. C. T. U. monthly, meeting, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The White Front chain store is in operation at Appomattox with Kenneth Gills in charge. So when you come to town don't fail to visit southside of railroad.

Dr. Christian prepared for the mud roads by adding high wheels to his Chevrolet, which takes him to all parts of the county over all sorts of mud roads.

The Wagers Desk Factory has leased the two-story brick building of E. T. Price, Southside of railroad and the building is being converted into a furniture store, with machinery being brought in and renewed activity will begin with the plant in a few days. Mr. Wagers says the plant is behind on its orders and the force will be increased.

J. L. Freeman and family, of Illinois, landed here Tuesday with a car of farming and household goods. Some years ago Mr. Freeman bought the Grapner place at old C. H. from Senator Ferguson and is now moving to begin his farming operations. We welcome Mr. Freeman and his family to our midst and trust others will follow him.

WOODLAND

What a snow we saw last Thursday morning as we arose from our slumber. It made us think of Lowell's poem, "The First Snow-fall". The snow had begun in the gloaming.

And busily all the night Had been heaping field and highway, With a silence deep and white.

Every pine and fir and hemlock, Were ermine too dear for an earl, And the poorest twig on the elm tree, Was ridged inch-deep with pearl.

Thursday afternoon Mr. Elbridge Cheatham opened his pathways to several homes with his one-horse sleigh and on Saturday morning Mr. Johnnie Poe opened up the entire road from his home to the highway with his two-horse sleigh. Now that what I call a fine spirit for my community to possess.

Miss Hammer Coleman, of Lynchburg, was the week-end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Coleman.

Miss Catherine Caldwell returned to her school here after a week-end visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Caldwell.

Misses Erie Poe and Beatrice Woodson were the guests of Miss Mary Woodson last Wednesday night.

Mr. Russell Woodson was the week-end guest of Mr. Huston Reames, of Charlottesville.

Misses Bernice Woodson Frances and Helen Marshall and Mr. Paul Woodson have all recovered from measles. Miss Mildred Marshall is now ill with measles.

Mr. Huston Reames and Miss Virginia Woodson were guests of Miss Mary Woodson Sunday afternoon.

The remains of Mr. Mose Hunter were laid to rest in the Reedy Springs church cemetery Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Hunter was reared in this community and he leaves a host of friends, who will miss him.

We wish to extend our hearty sympathy to his wife and all children and pray that God's richest blessings may always be with them.

HIXBURG The old saying that if the ground hog sees his shadow on Feb. 2nd, the next six weeks will be bad weather, may simply be proverbial saying, but cognizance of his hogship is being wonderfully displayed by our school truck. I am sure that after one more year of such weather, we will all not so bad after all. There has been no preaching at the Baptist church here for the past three months and bad weather prevented Mr. Redding from filling his appointment here last Sunday in the Presbyterian church.

Most of our farmers are about through selling tobacco, some of which got very satisfactory prices, while some are complaining right much for some grades.

Our tobacco growers recently called to see the writer as to his views on the cooperative selling plan, no cooperative plan will ever be made to hold good until all that did not sign before, sign inroclad and that none of the old officers that played fox and hand household goods. Some years ago Mr. Freeman bought the Grapner place at old C. H. from Senator Ferguson and is now moving to begin his farming operations. We welcome Mr. Freeman and his family to our midst and trust others will follow him.

practically where every ton of raw tobacco is stored, some of them may tell you they have enough to last them for the next 5 to 8 years. Such talk as that is good reason to believe that they will soon want a new stock. Now as a former co-op. I can say for 90 percent of Hixburg union, let's have the management clean and the victory is won so far as a sign up is concerned.

Mr. Editor, quite a lot of us farmers are endeavoring to form a protective game association, we have plenty of birds and a number of fine wild turkeys, we want some stock pheasants and can offer the government about a 5 to 8 thousand acre range. We are anxious to have our game given a better protection. Please give us such information as will enable us to get this through at our earliest opportunity.

Now that old Mr. Isaac Goble is married surely some of the younger ones need not be so anxious that they are doomed to bachelorhood.

Mr. S. Baxter Davis is on a visit to his son in Jacksonville, Fla.

Miss Annie Rosser, of Pamplin, is spending some time with her aunt, Mrs. J. H. McCune, and Miss Elene Rosser is spending several days with Miss Gladys Swann.

Wm. Evans Gannaway Died at his home in Miami, Florida, on January 22, 1930, William Evans Gannaway, son of Mary and Richard Woodson Gannaway, of Buckingham County, Virginia. The interment was made in Albany, Ga. Mr. Gannaway is survived by his wife, a brother, D. M. Gannaway, one sister, Mrs. Miller, J. Shepard, who was with him in his fatal illness. The Miami (Fla.) Herald of Jan. 24, said: "W. E. Gannaway, 64, president of the real estate firm of Gannaway and Peed, Inc., died last night in Jackson Memorial hospital following a brief illness."

Mr. Gannaway was a native of Buckingham county, Va., and during his early manhood was a commission merchant in Lynchburg, Va. In 1886 he came associated with the Central Georgia Railway and later engaged in the cotton warehouse business in Albany, Ga., where he resided until he came to Miami in 1923.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Annie Gannaway, of Miami; a brother, D. N. Gannaway, and a sister, Mrs. M. J. Shepard, of Buckingham, Va. Funeral services will be conducted today in the W. H. Combs Funeral Home by Rev. Walt Holcomb, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, of which Mr. Gannaway was a member. The body will be sent to Albany, Ga., for burial.

Charles Daniel Ferguson In sad but loving remembrance of our dear brother, Charles Daniel Ferguson, who died January 6, 1930. He leaves to mourn his loss father, two brothers and six sisters: Mr. S. A. and C. P. Ferguson, Mrs. M. L. Baldwin, Mrs. J. M. Buckman, Mrs. Bettie Williams, Mrs. Jennie Davis, Mrs. Ada Davis and Mrs. Laura Baldwin. Gone is the one we loved to hear, Silent is the voice we loved to hear, 'Tis sad but true, we wonder why He little thought when leaving home That he never would return, That he so soon in death should sleep. And let us us here to mourn. SISTERS AND BROTHERS.

The Moon There is a wonderful moon—high up in the air, she is so bright and clear as I stand and watch it go. It looks like a ball of gold flying in the sky. As I go to bed at night I see it shining up there so bright like a ball of fire, and some times I look for the ball of gold, but it is not there—little stars have taken her place; but the big round ball God put there for us to see by day and night.
